We Take A Closer Look

Metrology Instrument Sales

One of the advantages of purchasing your test and inspection equipment through ATS is that we also provide calibration services. This would mean that, for most of the equipment, you would be able to eliminate an extra step and would not need to deal with sending it out to get it calibrated after you acquire the item. Having an ISO 17025 accredited source where you can combine your purchase and calibrations needs is a significant advantage that ATS provides. Our experienced and knowledgeable staff can also guide you in selecting the proper equipment to meet your needs.
